V. WRITING

Different people have different fortune. Some people think that a journey of a thousand miles begins with a single step. Others do not agree. I'm going to express my point of view on this issue.

I strongly believe that a journey of thousand miles begins with a single step. For example learning English. We started learning it when we was in the second class. It was easy rules, words and texts. But then some people understand that it's not enough. And they find a lot of ways to improve their English. They want to make their English better. After that people have high level of English and they can speak English as their native language.

Others think that is untruth. They think that you must have talent for something. Everything should come at once otherwise you'll never get it. For example when you start to interested in any hobby you should be succeed in it. And if you can't do something you have to do something else.

I disagreed with the opinion because everything starts small. You have to try to achieve something. You'll never get anything if you throw all your interests. You always have to go to the end even if it's something fails.
